Dear Parent / Guardian

Commemoration of Total Defence Day in Seng Kang Primary School

Seng Kang Primary School will commemorate Total Defence Day on 13 and 14 February to mark Singapore's fall to the Japanese in 1942. Total Defence serves to remind our pupils that Singapore is worth defending and that we ourselves must defend Singapore.

This year, the theme is "Total Defence – Because You Played a Part".

The programmes planned seek to convey the message that what we have in Singapore today is due to the hard work of generations of Singaporeans who have worked together, overcoming many challenges along the way. As long as we remain united as one, we will succeed in building a secure and bright future for ourselves and the future generations.

A series of meaningful activities has been lined up for pupils.

In Seng Kang Primary School, every child will be a part of the celebration. We hope that they will have fun while learning about how their participation in Total Defence is important and everyone can play a part in defending Singapore. As parents, you can do your part by further engaging in dialogues with your child that the task of nation-building is not easy, and that we must work to preserve our present prosperity and stability.
